
East German perfin's are scarce

Carl Zeiss, the optics manufacturing firm in Leipzig, East Germany, was apparently a big user of perfin's on East German stamps. The CZ perfin appears on numerous DDR issues and on stamps of the Russian occupation.

There aren't many other perfin's on East German stamps, however. Although perfin's were commonly used throughout Germany prior to World War II, they are relatively scarce on post-war issues of either Germany.

Bob Schwerdt (#505L) and George Robijn (#3197) are among the members who reported the Carl Zeiss pattern.
